GRANT WRITING INSTITUTE

SUMMER 2009

Presented by Rockland Teachers' Center Institute in conjunction with The Greater Capital Region Teacher Center

In two days you'll learn how to prepare your fundraising strategy, find and prioritize funding prospects, and write effective proposals. Master all that goes into getting the funding and grants you want including; proposal writing tips, budgeting, assessment, state and federal funding, corporate funding, foundation funding and the differences between the various types of grant makers, grant searching and resources that can help you locate funding partner, key terminology and buzzwords in the grant seeking process, qualities a grant maker looks for in a proposal, best practices in approaching grant makers, and successfully winning any type of grant.

This course follows a two track format so that both experienced grant writers and those less familiar with the process can benefit. Instructor Vickie Parker is the Resource Librarian and Grants Coordinator for the Greater Capital Region Teacher Center. Ms. Parker has written and received numerous grants in her roles both as a teacher and as a staff member. Trained by the Foundation Center in Grantsmanship, she holds a Certificate from NYU in Philanthropy and Grantwriting and has been teaching grant courses in the NYS Capital Region for eight years. Online support available through completion of grant.
